Where Cool Pacific Breezes Blow...

Where Cool Pacific Breezes Blow...

Welcome to Coronado, one of the most desirable beachfront cities of the world! Measuring only 13.5 square miles and located just minutes from downtown San Diego, this enchanted “island” has it all — a nearly-perfect climate, award-winning beaches, lush parks, excellent highly ranked schools, top-notch municipal services, and numerous recreational activities. As you drive across the San Diego–Coronado Bay Bridge and experience the breathtaking panoramic view of the island, you will understand why many visitors decide to make Coronado home.

Known as an “island,” Coronado is really a peninsula connected to the mainland by a stretch of land named the Silver Strand. It’s a friendly beach haven with laid-back California charm linked to bustling downtown San Diego by the San Diego-Coronado Bay Bridge. A shuttle loops around the island but it is small enough to walk almost anywhere. Strolling along its tree-lined streets, you’ll notice stately mansions beside quaint California bungalows. Summertime concerts in Spreckels Park, a spectacular Fourth of July Parade, a festive hometown Christmas Parade and Merchant Open House with Santa riding the fire truck add to the small town atmosphere.

With its share of award-winning resorts and comfortable smaller hotels, visitors can relax and enjoy all Coronado has to offer. The sensational combination of sand, sea and sun is refreshing to the soul. Coronado’s beaches have attracted visitors for more than a century, since the world-renowned Hotel del Coronado opened on the beachfront in 1888. The main beach, with its dunes spelling “Coronado” from the sky, is ideal for swimming, riding boogie boards, bodysurfing, sculpting sandcastles, gazing into tide pools and even whale-watching in the winter months. Coronado Beach is voted one of America’s top beaches year after year.

This Relocation Guide is designed to answer questions about Coronado as you plan your move to our community. LIVING HERE

Calling Coronado Home

Coronado is a unique community: a small town with a charm of its own, just across the bay from bustling San Diego. We enjoy a slower pace here with all that a big city has to offer just minutes away. Here is a look into what it means to be a part of Coronado.

1. Appreciate what Coronado has to offer. Dine here, shop here, experience the sights and sounds of our community: sport a Crown City Coronado license plate holder on your car, attend the hometown 4th of July and Christmas parades, cheer on the high school teams, watch the evening sailboat races, picnic with friends at a Concert-in-the-Park, read the editorials in our local newspaper, delight in the sparkle of the Hotel del's fabulous Christmas tree. There's so much to see and do!

2. Shop locally. Coronado has its share of quaint shops and local businesses that offer services to locals and visitors. The owners are your neighbors and fellow community leaders. Our businesses give generously to local charitable organizations. Return the favor and patronize their establishments. Many businesses offer local discounts; just ask.

3. Take an active role. Coronado is an active community with respected, accessible government leaders. Listen to opposing views with respect, ask questions, form your own positions and advocate on local issues that concern you. You can make a difference!

4. Grow with our community.

Share your ideas with local business leaders. As business owners, tailor your business to fit the needs of your community. Together, our community will grow and prosper.

5. Volunteer here. Find something that you are passionate about and support that cause by giving some time and financial support. You will be richer for it and so will the community.

6. Be a good host. Our community is a tourist destination. In fact, sometimes visitors fall in love with our island and decide to become residents! Offer friendly assistance to visitors and tell them what Coronado has to offer.

7. Slow down. Ease over the bridge onto the island. Traffic moves at a different pace here. Be patient with the increased traffic during the busy season. Expect more pedestrians, bicyclists and electric cars. Take a deep breath, look up at our clear blue skies and count your blessings for living in paradise.

8. Play tourist for a day or a weekend. Put on your shades and sunscreen, walk the Paseo del Mar along the beach at the Del, sit at a sidewalk table and enjoy a leisurely lunch. Ride the ferry to downtown San Diego to a Padres baseball game. Stroll along the bay through the Ferry Landing to the bridge and back. Enjoy being able to live in such a desirable location!

The History of Coronado

Coronado was named for the Coronado Islands off the coast of San Diego. They were first sighted November 8, 1602, by Spanish navigator Vizcaino. He named them “Los Coronados” or “the crowned ones,” for four martyred saints of ancient Rome.

Coronado remained a barren peninsula, mostly populated by jack rabbits, until purchased in 1885 by Elisha S.

Babcock, Jr., and Hampton L. Storey. They rowed over to the island from San Diego to hunt rabbits and decided it would be an ideal setting for a luxurious resort hotel. With the railroad scheduled to reach San Diego, they believed Easterners looking for a more moderate climate would flock to the new hotel.

The Hotel del Coronado opened in 1888 and shortly afterwards was sold to John D. Spreckels, the “Sugar King”. In 1891, Benjamin Harrison was the first of 13 United States Presidents to visit Coronado, joining the long list of celebrity guests at the Hotel. Today, the hotel is a designated National Historical Landmark.

Aviation and the military is another important part of Coronado’s history. In 1911, Glenn Curtis opened an aviation camp in what is today the Naval Air Station, North Island. During World War I, the Spreckels family sold North Island to the U.S. Navy for $5 million. In 1927, Col. Charles Lindbergh took off on the first leg of his famous journey to St. Louis, New York and Paris from North Island. Today, North Island home-ports two aircraft carriers (a third carrier will arrive in approximately 2009), making the military the top employer in the community.

History is still a part of everyday life in Coronado with more than 111 historical sites designated in the City. For more information on Coronado’s history, contact the Coronado Historical Association, 1100 Orange Avenue, Coronado, CA 92118, (619) 435-7242 or log onto www.coronadohistory.org.

Demographics

Coronado's economy is supported by its residential population, tourism, and by the adjacent navy bases. The City is a renowned tourist destination not only by out-of-town travelers but also from neighboring communities in the San Diego region. While tourism is a significant contributor to the local tax base, residential property taxes are still the largest single source of revenue to the City of Coronado, making up more than a third of its general revenues.

Neighborhoods

Village

The main residential area of Coronado is known as the Village, featuring picturesque tree-lined streets that run about 12 blocks east to west and about 18 blocks north to south. The homes, many built before World War II, are architecturally unique and range from charming cottages to stately mansions.

Shores

Just south of the famous Hotel del Coronado sits the Coronado Shores, a Coronado neighborhood often described as the “ultimate beach house.” These high-rise style condominiums offer luxurious oceanfront living at its finest. Residents in these ten towers enjoy spectacular sunset views, complete with underground parking and concierge service.

Silver Strand

Located on the Silver Strand 2.5 miles south of the Naval Amphibious Base, this neighborhood is comprised of duplexes and apartments for military families. Silver Strand Elementary School is also located within this neighborhood.

Cays

Another neighborhood of Coronado is the Coronado Cays, a marina community located four miles south on the Silver Strand. It features condominiums, town homes, patio homes and beautiful waterfront estates, many including private boat slips.

Neighbors

Naval Base Coronado (NBC) is a consolidated Navy command that encompasses airfields, training ranges, and facilities that provide critical operational training and services for the entire Navy. As one of the largest military complexes in the Navy, NBC is made up of seven facilities that cover more than 57,000 acres. Two of seven facilities are located in the City of Coronado: Naval Air Station North Island and Naval Amphibious Base Coronado. For information specific to military relocations, please contact the Naval Base Coronado Fleet & Family Service Center at (619) 545-6071 or go to www.cnic.navy.mil/coronado.

Naval Air Station, North Island (NASNI) is known as “The Birthplace of Naval Aviation,” and was officially designated as the Navy’s first Naval Air Station in 1917. On a daily basis 500 flights, on average, are conducted here and 36% of all the Navy’s aircrews are trained here each year. NASNI is home to two nuclear-powered aircraft carriers and more than 100 commands, including: Commander Naval Air Forces and two Carrier Strike Groups. The air station resembles a small city in its operations. It has its own police and fire departments and its own parks, beaches, housing and recreation areas.

The Naval Amphibious Base (NAB) has been in operation since 1943. The base is situated on the Silver Strand, just south of the famous Hotel del Coronado between the San Diego Bay and the Pacific Ocean. It is host to more than thirty commands to include Commander, Naval Surface Forces Pacific and Commander, Naval Special Warfare Command, a second echelon command which is headquarters for America’s elite maritime special operations forces — the U.S. Navy SEALs and Special Warfare Combatant Craft Crewmen.
